What is Labskaus? Where the word "Labskaus" comes from is uncertain. It is suspected, among other things, that it is based on the English expression "lout's couse," which means something like "food for ruffians." What is certain, however, is that Labskaus is a sailor's dish made from ingredients that used to be long-lasting at sea: salted meat, potatoes, and salted herring. All cooked and mashed together, it was a nutritious meal for sailors and tastes similar to a very hearty mashed potato. Today, it is still served with beetroot, pickled gherkin, herring, and a fried egg, and it is simply delicious. That's for sure. -Enjoy your meal-

		SMALL	LARGE	EXTRA LARGE
85	COD HEAD – FRIED, WITH FRIED POTATOES	10,80	17,90	XX

Pork head aspic, veal brain, and braised beef tongue are well known. But the cod's head is also coveted: Norwegians cut out the tongue, Africans and French throw it into soup pots, and northern fishermen consider it a delicacy when fried. The cod's head is cut off, the eyes and gills removed, washed, and split in half. Seasoned with sea salt and pepper and fried in oil, the head is then served plain, with fried potatoes or black bread, and eaten with the fingers. This small portion also makes an excellent appetizer. A mouth-watering delicacy.

Top-quality beer from the oldest North German Pils brewery.

Premium beer from the oldest pilsner brewery in northern Germany.

The fact that the Ernst Barre private brewery has been able to successfully assert itself on the market as a family business for more than 170 years is due in no small part to its solid principles.

These include an uncompromising commitment to quality, to the region and its people, and to the protection of natural resources. Founded in 1842 in Lübbecke at the foot of the Wiehen Hills by Ernst Johann Barre, the brewery is a family business that is still successfully owner-managed today, now in its sixth generation. "Despite turbulent times and the concentration of the beer market, the brewery continues to be committed to success," says managing partner Christoph Barre.

With the slogan "Privatbrauer aus Leidenschaft" (Passionate Private Brewer), the brewery actively counteracts the general trend toward globalization and boldly faces the many challenges it presents. As one of the last independent private breweries in northern Germany, the Barre company is a significant economic factor in the region. "Hands-down recipes, traditional brewing methods, and investments in cutting-edge technology have guaranteed the consistently high quality of our now 13 different premium products for many decades," reports Christoph Barre. Products that the people of Northern Germany appreciate.

The Barre Private Brewery is happy to express its gratitude for this trust by supporting various clubs and events throughout the Barre region. This is intended to give something back to the people who continue to value regional products. The Barre Private Brewery is committed to being a reliable partner in sports and culture, as well as in social activities and environmental conservation.

Seestern Fish Restaurant

Protected from the "Blanken Hans," as the unpredictable North Sea storms are called, on the East Frisian North Sea coast and the Wadden Sea World Heritage Site, surrounded by the cries of seagulls, lies our Seestern Fish Restaurant. Located directly on the dike promenade (binnendieks) of the North Sea spa town of Norddeich. Since our opening in 1985, we have focused on the careful selection of products, the quality of our craftsmanship, and our commitment to the region. In keeping with this tradition, we spoil our guests with typical regional and North German dishes.

We receive our freshly caught fish and North Sea crabs directly from fishing boats and suppliers in local ports along the North Sea coast. The generous portions, which are also available as senior citizen or children's dishes, are seasoned with sea salt and always freshly prepared.

We serve hot meals every day, year-round, from 11:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. We offer freshly tapped beers from the Barre private brewery—North Germany's oldest pilsner brewery.

We wish you a pleasant stay!
